Jervaulx Singers

Jervaulx Singers was founded by Charlie Gower-Smith and Jenny Bianco. They are based in North Yorkshire and perform across the UK. The group comprises some of the country's finest professional voices, all passionate about giving expressive, beautiful performances.

They present a wide range of repertoire, putting sacred and secular choral music alongside opera extracts and solo songs to create programmes that convey narrative whilst giving display to the group's individual voices. They also host an annual opera gala, semi-staging repertoire both familiar and new from across the centuries.

The ensemble has thrilled audiences since their start, and have performed at the Grassington Festival, the Swaledale Festival, and the University of Leeds Concert Series and the Wensleydale Concert Series.
